

Lugansk church comes under artillery strike

The TV channel has said that neither local residents nor militiamen can explain the motive behind the attack because the nearest militia-controlled stronghold is located several kilometers away.

